PROBLEM DOG? PROBLEM OWNER? DOROTHY WALLS-DUFFIN HAS THE ANSWER

Dorothy Walls-Duffin has over 30 years experience training dogs.

"I watch, listen and very quickly pick up on the dogs problem areas and the dogs distress through its behaviour." Together with assistant Amy Cadman, Dorothy will teach you to listen and communicate with your dog.

Dorothy travels Europe judging and training dogs, she is a Kennel Club judge and trains dogs for other clubs in the UK. Her extensive knowledge and experience with all breeds is evident when she tells us "any dog, any problem is easily put right."

With dedication to every client and friendly determination Dorothy will teach you kind, understanding training methods. These methods will help calm and reassure your dog enabling you to build a rewarding relationship.

Wolves are the ancestors to every domestic dog, no other species displays such diversity as the canine. As dogs adapt so must we. As humans we need to listen to our animal companions and unburden them of their responsibility of alpha in the pack. We must take the role of pack leader. Through good leadership dogs have learned to adapt to assist us in many ways. A few you will be familiar with are, guide dogs, therapy dogs, scent dogs and police dogs.

Frequently asked questions

Q: How did I end up with a dog like this?

A: Through lack of guidance.

Q: Where did I go wrong?

A: By not listening to your dog and allowing it to become pack leader.

Q: Is my dog too old to be trained?

A: No dog is too old to learn new tricks. It's never too late to train.

Behavioural problems such as socialising, biting, barking, chewing, jumping up, pulling, destruction and aggression are all issues of the dog not knowing its place. As Dorothy points out "through good communication, giving simple easy to understand messages and lots of praise you can develop a stress free, well behaved happy dog."

When you book and attend your first session with Dorothy and her team, you will be given a training manual including dietary help and advice. Training equipment will be supplied, together with access to a canine treadmill to further your dogs health and fitness.

Consultations are available in your own home. Alternatively for a tailor made one-to-one training schedule in friendly and secure training grounds at Grangemead see inside on page for details.
